A technical drawing of a window frame, showing the internal structure and the placement of the glass panes. The drawing is a cross-section view, illustrating the frame's profile and the glass panes. A dashed line indicates the internal structure of the frame, showing the separation between the upper and lower panes. The frame is shown with a top rail, a bottom rail, and side rails. The glass panes are shown as two separate units, one above the other, with a small gap between them. The drawing is a black and white line drawing, typical of technical specifications.
